product was $242,996 88. In 1857 the assessment product was $242,996 88. In 1857 the assessment was $183,594,205, and the product $276,901 54. This, with the poll-tax and the revenue from taxes on merchandise and occupations, is sufficient to pay the ordinary expenditure of the State, including appropriations for the insane asylum, the asylums for the deaf and dumb and the blind, and the penitentiary. There is in the treasury, after the payment of all appropriations, a cash surplus of about $760,000. There is an increase of expenditure anticipated for the next two years, from an increase in the judiciary districts and certain other payments assumed by the State. The governor's plan is to reduce the rate of faxation, and supply the deficiency out of the surplus of January 500 more will find something to do on the new post office, to be built at the lower end of the Park."

The New York Journal of Commerce estimates that the plus in the treasury for two years, anticipating that e increase of the value of taxable property will, after that time; raise the revenue to a sufficient mount for the support of government.

The governor recommends that the State should out of the surplus of the last Texas-debt fund, regrand to Texas by the United States, pay to old creditors of Texas the difference between the amount which they received under the act of Congress and that at which their debts were rated and classified at

The governor regrets that the aid thus given is not more effective in helping forward the railroad enterprises of the State. It is not sufficient to buy iron and by creating a first mortgage obstruct the negoti-

The governor proposes the passage of an act ! take the sense of the voters on the expediency of calling a convention to amend the State constitution.

In the concluding passages of the message he refers to the relations of Texas, and the southern States generally, to the federal government and the free States, in which he seems to think the aspects of the subject decidedly improved. He speaks, also, in terms of high eulogy of the late Gen. Rusk, and closes with tendering his gratitude to the people of the State for the evidences he has received of their

This light should be seen from the dock of hip, in clear weather, a distance of six miles.

The Minister of Marine at Madrid has given notice that a bright revolving light, eclipsed once a minute, was established on the 1st day of October last in a light-house recently built on Cape San Sebastian, in the province of Gerons, Catalonia. This light is placed at an elevation of 555 English feet above the level of the sea, and should be visible from the deck of a ship in ordinary weather at a distance of about 22 miles. It serves to enable vessels a missace of about 22 inites. It serves to enable vessels to avoid the Hornigas or Ant islets, the southernmost of which lies at 24 miles south of the light-house, and the easternmost at 14 mile from Punta del Termino or Cas-

The harbor authorities at Geelong, Port Phillip, So Australia, have given notice that a light-vessel has been temporarily moored opposite the Bird rock, on the port side of the channel leading into Corlo barbor, Goelong, near the position hitherto occupied by the Second black buoy, which has been removed. The light is while, fixed, from the deck of a small vessel at a distance of 9 miles in clear weather. Should the light-vessel break adrift, or be otherwise shifted from her moorings, the white light will be discontinued, and two red lights exhibited instead by night, and a large white flag by day.

in the St. Louis Republican of Thesday:

"The railroad bill, which provides for the payment of the interest on the State bonds, having passed the senate and come back to the house, has been under discussion in the house the whole afternoon. The bill has been amended so as to postpone the collection of the mill tax till 1859, but leaves abundant sources of revenue for the payment of the interest. The bill will be disposed of to-morrow, and there is now a fair prospect that it will pass."

SENATORIAL ELECTION QUESTION IN ALABAMA. - This mestion will come up in the senate to-day at 12, m., upon the consideration of the resolution of Senator Aber athy, of Benton, to go into the election on Monday next. There will be considerable discussion. We favo an early disposition of that question. In his remarks the other day, when the resolution was introduced, Senator Woodward stated that Gov. The New York correspondent of the Picayune writes "The amusement purveyors' stand it pretty well, al-though they have to provide extra attractions at reduced prices; and, as Goethe suggested to the manager of the theatre at Weimar, they shorten the petitionars and theatre at Weimar, they shorten the petticoats and lengthen the dance. The Broadway, with the famous Ronzani Ballet Company, is apparently doing well; and Nibio's, with the bewitching Bolla and the 'wonderful Ravels,' is always full. Miss Cushman has played a successful engagement of four weeks at Burton's, and commences another to-night. She has become 'fut and forty' since her last appearance here, and is said to be worth $250,000. Last week she took a 'flier' in Wall street, and pocketed a difference of $4,000—on the rise of stocks. I consider her 'Meg Merrilles' one of the greatest pieces of acting on the stage, and one of the most absolute triumphs of art I have ever seen. I don't know as I should like to see her in any other role.''

The University of Virginia.—Dr. S. Maupin, chair-man of the faculty, notices in a public manner the exag-gerated rumors of sickness at the University. He says the number of students at present confined to their rooms does not exceed a dozou, and a majority of those are con-valescent. He thought there was nothing to justify alarm on the part of the parents and friends of the students.

RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENTS.

lespatch from New Orleans announces that the to the legislature, which assembled at Austin on the 2d instant, gives a very favorable account of the condition of affairs in that prosperous State.

The assessed value of taxable property in the State was, in 1856, $161,194,479; upon which there was an ad volorem tax of fifteen cents on the $100, as the product was $242,996 88. In 1857 the assessment from that city, which suspended specie psyments during the late panic, have again resumed. This is agree-able intelligence, and we hope to see our own and other suspended banks adopt the same course at an early day. The banks of Deston, it is said, are prepared to resume. Specie is rapidly pouring into New York, and a letter from that city, which suspended specie psyments during the late panic, have again resumed. This is agree-able intelligence, and we hope to see our own and other suspended banks adopt the same course at an early day. The banks of Deston, it is said, are prepared to resume.

specio in the banks of that city next week will equal $22,000,000—a larger amount by several millions than was ever in the banks before.

From the New Orleans Picayune, Nov. 18. THE ESCAPE OF GENERAL WALKER.

We doubt not, as we write, that Walker is again upon the wave, and rolling towards victory, or—something not quite so pleasant in Nicaragua. The fact that General Walker had given bonds in the sum of $2,000 to appear before the United States court, as a matter of course, had no effect upon his movements, and we understand that he left yesterday with the advance guard or first division of his army, with the view of falling in with the trans-ports somewhere in Lake Borgne, and at once proceeding to sea. Everything appears to have been well conducted, and the effort to stop the expedition has resulted like all revious similar ones.—In smoke.

The following communication from a member of expedition was received by us this morning, and contains, we believe, all the information on the subject of the de-parture which is of any interest at present:

The present force may be considered rather small by some to effect a landing; but I predict that it will be found equal to the duty assigned it. Gen. Walker goes out with merely the advance guard, to effect a landing, and make a standing point.

LATER FROM YUCATAN. By the Mexican schooner Arrogante, direct from that port, we have Campeachy papers, full files, to the 27th ult., five days later than our previous intelligence from Laguna, via Vera Cruz. The besieged town not only still ntinued to hold out, but, judging from the Espiritu Pub some grains of allowance, there was no prospect of its speedy capture. That paper laughs them to scorn:

speedy capture. That paper laughs them to scorn:

"Our ferocious and barbarous enemy still hold what they call an 'advantageous' position in the suburb of San Francisco. They amuse themselves with depredations on the country round about, and inventing the means of assanlting us. They evidently think that the assault of Campeachy—that other Sebastopol which, crowned with the glories of a hundred victories, defies them—is no more difficult thing than the surprise of our troops and the capture of San Francisco!"

O O Do not the Colonel (future General) Cepeda and that famous Sultan Baqueiro know the history of this people? Have Sultan Baqueiro know the history of this people? Have they not heard tell how, in other days, eleven thousand Mexicans, more brave than they, assaulted Campeachy, and were not able to take it ?"

There does not, however, appear to be entire unanimity of sentiment in the besieged town. The military commander had issued an order to all the citizens of the place to deliver up their arms, "under pain of being declared enemies to the cause;" and this "not only that they may be used in defence of the city, but because of uspicions to which their concealment might give rise."

Nor is there more unanimity among the other or government party of this distracted country. Another "conhad been discovered at Merida, by which a large number of the principal citizens were compromised Among the arrests were Colonel Zetina and D. Pablo Castellano, who were thrown into prison, where they are still detained; and D. Manuel Donde, Juan Jose Herrera Manuel S. Herrera, Venancio Canto, Juan J. Hernander Pedro Contreras Elizalde, and Francisco Remirez, who giving bonds in the sum of $1,000 each not to join the revolutionists at Campeachy or Carmen, were allowed to go free, on condition they would leave the country. They had taken the direction of Vera Cruz. Some twenty-five or thirty others, compromised in the same affair, in default of the required security, were to be shipped at Sisal

In addition to this evidence of disaffection, it is also stated that the Colonel Salazor, commanding the government forces at Acanceh, in the vicinity of the capital, had "pronounced," and gone over with all his men to the

Besides, complaints were abroad that the government were using the money raised by a forced loan for the Indian war to prosecute that against the opposing political party. This had produced considerable disaffection among its best friends. Referring to the misappropriation, the Eco del Pueblo, of Carmen, says, playfully and with some point, "the governor evidently thinks us barbarians or revolted Indians." The same paper states that the government was fitting out a vessel at Sisal for an expedition against the island. The Campeachy papers complain bitterly of the ravage of the besieging army in the neighborhood. The whole country, ranches and haciendas, was under forced contri-bution for their support, and the inhabitants had fled in every direction. No further depredations of the Indian population are reported.

In the circuit court of Bedford county, Pa., last week, Miss Klutim W. Wingfield obtained a verdict of $27,000 damages from Wm. Stein, for breach of marriage contract. The lady is about thirty-four years of age, and the gentleman eighty. This was the second trial of the case; a former jury have given a verdict of $650 for the plaintiff, which was set aside on motion of the defendant.

THE KIRRWOOD HOUSE .- " Shall I not take mine case The Kirkwood Hotse.—"Shall I not take mine case in mine inn" saked the incornigible Falstaff, who so loved the Bear's Head Tayern, in Eastcheag, where Dame Quickly ministered to the wants and to the pleasures of her guests. Times have changed since then, but public houses are still an "institution," and about this time, (as the almanacs say,) we fancy that many a reader of the Union, miles away, more or, less, who expects to visit this metropolis during the confing session, says to himself: "Shall I not take mine ease in mine inn?" Officers of our gallant army, who are blrouacking on the western prairies; naval men, tired of ward-room fare; members of Congress, who expect to do their constituents bers of Congress, who expect to do their constituent bers of Congress, who expect to do their constituents good service; contractors and claimants, who feel confident that their acquaintance with Uncle Samuel will be profitable; gay ladies, who have "nothing to wear," yet hope to create a sensation in society;—all these, with many others, expect to visit Washington during the winter. They have enjoyed on previous visits the comforts and the luxuries provided for the travelling public at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Twelfth street; and no sconer do they anticipate their return than they mentally each the assertion of the portly knight; "Shall I tally echo the assertion of the portly knight: "Shall I not take mine ease in mine inn"—the Kirkwood? They will be pleased to learn, we are confident, that their favorite abiding-place while in the metropolis not only sustains its well-earned reputation, but has recently been greatly improved and enlarged, under the direction of its constoous and indefatigable hosts. The services of masons, carpenters, painters, paper-hangers, and uphol-sterers have been called for, and although a few estab-lishments may cover more ground, no hotel in America surpasses the Kirkwood in convenient arrangement, comfort, and efficient administration. Everything comes unler the vigilant observation of the gentlemanly hosts, whose chief study is to have all in their employ give a prompt attention to the wishes of every guest.

The sojourners at the Kirkwood House have good rea son to beast of their table, for its delicacles are "familiar in their mouths as household words." There is not an enormous "bill of fare," filled up with all sorts of dishes which have never been seen in the kitchen, but are inserted like the supernumeraries at the theatre, to fill up; but all the delicacies and the luxuries of the season are sure to be provided, and cooked in a manner to tempt the most fastidious appetite. There are wine cellars, too, well filled with the rarest of beverages, "of the most approved brands," samples of which tempt many to "smile" at the witching hour of eleven. Above all, addng to the manifold attractions of the Kirkwood, the charges are moderate.

THE REVISED CODE. - We have received a copy of the "Revised Code of the District of Columbia," prepared under the authority of the act of Congress entitled "An act to improve the laws of the District of Columbia, and to codify the same, approved March 3, 1855." The commissioners, in their preface, say that in "no instance where there has been a departure from former law has any principle or provision been introduced which has not the sanction of modern, and, as they believe, enlightened legislation." The first part of the code treats of the internal administration of the government; the second, o continued to hold out, but, judging from the Expension Pub-lice, which, as the organ of the revolutionists, and of lice, which, as the organ of the revolutionists, and of course directly under their influence at the present time, must, perhaps, like the Mexican papers, be taken with some grains of allowance, there was no prospect of its speedy capture. That paper laughs them to scorn: crimes, and the punishment thereof, and proceedings in criminal cases. The code is now submitted to the people of this District for their consideration.
